

CALLER IDENTIFYING INFORMATION ENCODED
WITHIN EMBEDDED DIGITAL INFORMATION

ABSTRACT

A method of providing caller information can include receiving a voice signal, detecting portions of the voice signal that are inaudible using a perceptual audio processor, replacing the inaudible portions of the voice signal with digital caller information, and transmitting the resulting voice signal specifying the digital caller information.